Dear PCC Family,

As we come to the close of this fiscal year, we are also stepping into a significant moment in the life of our church. This coming year marks the beginning of our 75th anniversary—a milestone that invites both celebration and reflection. We will take time to remember and give thanks for all that God has done through PCC over the decades. His faithfulness has been evident in lives changed, leaders raised, and a legacy of ministry that continues to impact far beyond our walls.

But this is not only a time to look back. It is a moment to look forward with clarity and faith.

We believe God is calling us to be a church that is strong for the future—a church that:

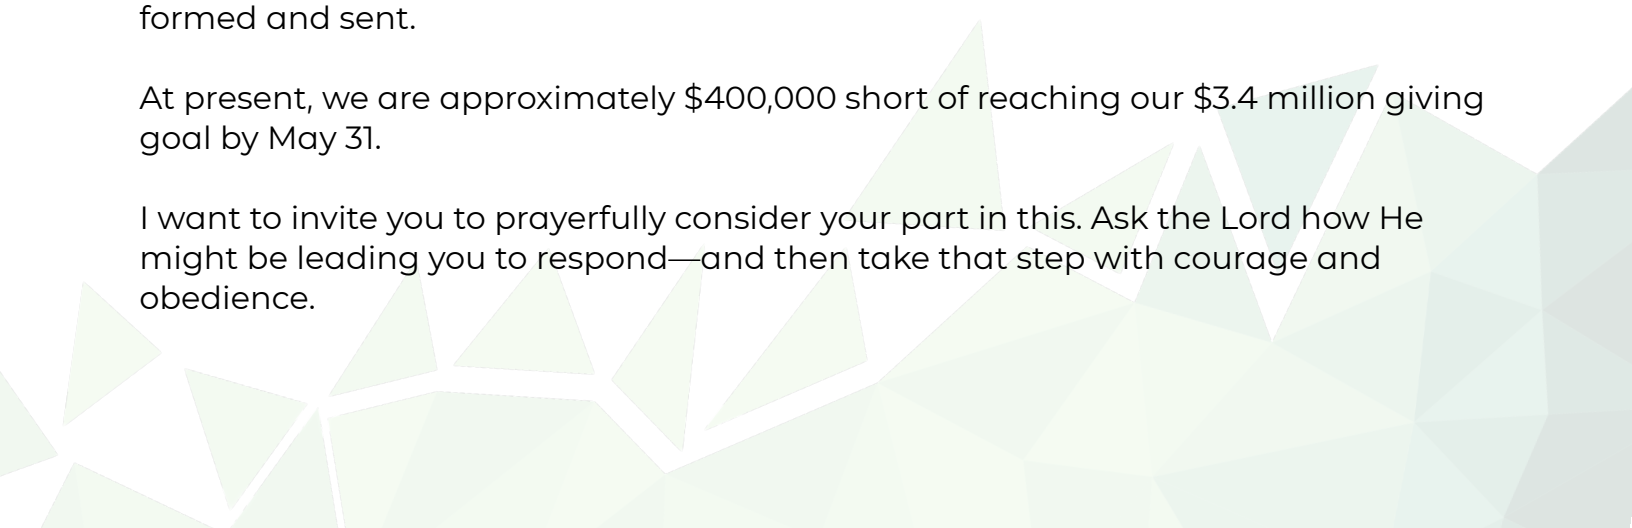

- raises the next generation, forming and launching children, students, and young adults in faith,
- is deeply engaged in our city and the world, living out the Gospel in tangible and relational ways, and
- builds intentional pathways that form and multiply disciples.

While this is a renewed emphasis, it is not a new direction. It is a re-commitment to the mission God has given our church for the past 75 years. It is about becoming the kind of church that, 25 years from now, people will be grateful we had the courage to build.

Throughout this month, you will hear stories of what God has done over this past year—stories that remind us that the fruit we long for is not programs, but people formed and sent.

At present, we are approximately $400,000 short of reaching our $3.4 million giving goal by May 31.

I want to invite you to prayerfully consider your part in this. Ask the Lord how He might be leading you to respond—and then take that step with courage and obedience.

If you are not yet giving at a biblical level, perhaps this is the moment to begin. If that feels like too large a step, consider simply moving forward—incrementally, faithfully. What matters is not equal giving, but equal sacrifice and shared commitment.

As we enter this 75th year, we do so with gratitude for the past and faith for the future. We will celebrate what God has done—but we will also step forward into what He is calling us to build together.

Thank you for your generosity, your faithfulness, and your partnership in what God is doing.

In Christ's Love and Service,
Pastor Mark
